

TRANSIT JAM 2020: RETHINKING "VEHICLES FIRST"
9/17/2020, 3-5:15pm
Time (mins)	Start time	(Section time)	Topic	Type	Title	Participants
135
2	3pm		2 Introduction			James Ockenden, editor, Transit Jam
3:02pm			21 Public space, private control
Only in Hong Kong is "public space" so dominated by private control - how do activists and citizens wrestle back their own space?
6				Presentation	Reimagining public space	Peter Dampier, Marketing and Relationships Director - Asia Pacific, BuroHappold Engineering
6				Presentation	MTR isochromes	Oren Tatcher, Principal, OTC Planning & Design
5				Fireside chat	Private control of public space	Moderator Waltraut Ritter, Knowledge Dialogues; Peter Dampier; Oren Tatcher
4				Open Q&A		All panelists
3:23pm			14 Parking: every space is sacred
With only 1.2 legal parking spaces per car (and 1 of those it's 'home space', parking is in short-supply in Hong Kong. Join the "parking guru" to hear how Hong Kong could claw its way out of the illegal parking mess we've created for ourselves
8				Pre-recorded interview	Pricing kerbside parking	Donald Shoup, Distinguished Research Professor of Urban Planning, University of California, Los Angeles
6				Open discussion on Professor Shoup's video	Views and comments on "parking in Hong Kong"	Moderated by James Ockenden and Waltraut Ritter
3:37pm			33 Space in the "sharing economy"
Siloed thinking limits innovation in transport - how do we develop space and transport in a holistic way? New data concepts and fresh ways of thinking about public space can open up different approaches in lobbying for sustainable transport
3				Introduction	Concepts of Space	Marina Huynh, Director, Infrastructure Advisory, EY
8				Presentation	The Inter-modal Transport Data Sharing Programme and HKU Data Trust	Terry Graham & Waltraut Ritter, Researchers, Inter-modal Transport Data Sharing Programme
8				Presentation(s)	Multi-modal approaches to bus transport	XU Zizhen, PhD candidate; and Dr. Shauhrat Chopra, Assistant Professor, School of Energy & Environment, City University of Hong Kong
6				Presentation	Fresh looks at "active" space and supporting healthy ageing	Dr Sun Yi, Assistant Professor, Dept of Building & Real Estate, Hong Kong Polytechnic University
8				Chat & Q&A		Moderated by Marina
5	4:10pm		BREAK ++ we will play a mini feature exposing the black market illegal parking on Cameron Lane in TST ++
4:15pm			25 Modes of transport: six wheels good
Public transport still holds the majority of trips in Hong Kong - how can it continue to do so, sustainably and in competition with the climate and private vehicles?
8				Presentation	New paradigms in bus transport and EVs	Paul Bromley, Managing Director, Phoenix Business Consulting
6
2				Brief intro to fireside chat		Alok Jain, Managing Director, Trans-Consult
5				Fireside chat		Moderator: James Ockenden; Paul Bromley, Alok Jain
4				Open Q&A to panel		All participants
0
4:40pm			32 Modes of transport: two legs (or wheels) bad?
Cycling is discouraged by the government - and many transport planners agree. Can cycling make a comeback? How can cycle trips and last-mile bike solutions transform our crowded polluted streets? Is it too late for bikes?
7				Presentation	How the government killed the shared bike business	Martin Turner, Chairman, Hong Kong Cycling Alliance
5				Presentation	Urban cycling infrastructure	Justin Yim, Street Reset
7				Presentation/video interview	Last-mile on two wheels - an experience from the UK	(Invited: Pedal And Post, Oxford's Eco courier service)
6				Fireside chat	Talking space, for bikes and people	Martin Turner, Oren Tatcher, Justin Yim, Sun Yi
7				Q&A		All participants
5:12pm			3 Wrap-up and conclusions
1				Presentation	Wrap up by James and Waltraut	James Ockenden & Waltraut Ritter
2				Grand Q&A and networking (business card lightning round)		All participants
5:15pm			End
Registration: transitjam2020.eventbrite.com
Enquiries: James Ockenden, 9410 4988, james@transitjam.com; Waltraut Ritter conference@transitjam.com							